DR. FERGUSON WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Editor, Grenada Sentinel,
Grenada, Miss.

My Dear Mr. Lawrence:

As it may be of some interest to some readers of your paper to hear something of what I know about California during the five years I have been living here, with your permission for space, I will say, California in my opinion is one of the greatest states in the union, and has much to offer to those who have plenty of money.

Los Angeles is a wonderful city to live in, if you don't have to work. Hollywood is a glamorous city that every one should visit who comes to Los Angeles. It has been my good fortune to live in Hollywood, surrounded by every luxury. California has the biggest mountain and the deepest canyons I ever saw, and the finest bridges anywhere in the United States.

You can be on snow clad mountains and look down at the beautiful blooming flowers in the valley, where it is nice and warm. On many mountain tops within a couple of hours drive from Los Angeles, you will find snow and ice all summer. The lofty hills surrounding the canyons which have broad, paved highways through them, have sheltered forest trails with tall flowering eucalyptus trees. The area of Los Angeles City is very large - seems more than 200 miles around the city limits. It seems that if it were built up it might be two New Yorks. Los Angeles and its surrounding suburban towns are most interesting. Many visitors coming here see very little more than the average sightseeing busses have to offer on their daily tours and unless they have private cars or friends who will use theirs, they are deprived of the many, many gorgeous inland trips. There are perhaps thousands living here who know little of their own city and surroundings other than where they are employed and the home they live in. I have been here more than five years, riding over the city most every day with my daughter or her many friends who often take me on long drives where I continually observe new scenic spots.

The Golden Gate bridge, which was recently dedicated in San Francisco, has the longest span in the world - about a mile long and cost thirty five million dollars. The toll for crossing this bridge is fifty cents each way for automobiles with one or more persons, and five cents for pedestrians.

The climate in Southern California is almost perfect. Fruit and flowers are any time of the year. At night, during the summer months, it is necessary to sleep between blankets almost every night - never any severe cold weather for any length of time. Some crops are made and gathered without rain, getting their moisture by irrigation and night and morning fog. It does not rain here very often - January and February seem to be the months for rain. Winters are mild and summers are reasonably cool. Grazing for animals is mostly in the winter as that is when the grass gets green and pretty. Early spring grass, unless continually watered, will dry up about April.

California has a great deal of wealth from other states. Oh yes, I must tell you about the rivers here. When it is not raining, you can walk over their beds and never get your feet wet and in some, step over the little water there is in them. They are called "dry rivers".

Most all the prosperous farms here are irrigated. They say that once you stay in California for any length of time, you never get the place out of your system. I guess that's right. The climate here has spoiled me for any other. This city is brimful of romances and no

Fall Flower Show Sponsored By The Local Garden Club

To Be Held On Friday, Oct. 8th, 1937, At Community House.

On Oct. 8 the Grenada Garden Club will present their annual fall flower show. The show will be opened to the public at 11 a. m. and will continue to three in the afternoon.

The objective of the flower show is to promote general interest in gardens and decorative planting. If it succeeds in raising the standards of horticulture and floral beauty in the community by encouraging a spirit of friendly rivalry, it will have attained its purpose and justified its existence.

The schedule is planned for the novice as well as for the experienced grower and the whole community is cordially invited and urged to enter exhibits. The flowers will be judged for arrangement in some classes and for specimen only in others.

The class will be numerous enough for any amateur to enter an exhibit of some kind. The classification committee will gladly help prospective exhibitors as to how to conform their entries to the schedule. This information should be secured before the day of the show.

In order to avoid confusion a few do's and don'ts are given below: Do not use a "filler" such as Gypsophila, statice, etc., in any specimen class.

Do use the numbers flowers called for in the schedule, one more or less may disqualify your exhibit with the judges.

Do not wire stems of flowers. Remember the stem and foliage counts as well as the blossom. Bug eaten foliage often rouses the ribbons to be given to a seemingly inferior blossom.

In miniature exhibit, abide by rules in schedule.

MARK BEARD FAMILY

(By W. E. Boushe)

As we travel the roads of memory and live once more with the friends of yesterday, we often in our reflection reach that home where we are tempted to linger more than the allotted time so pleasant is the retrospect. One of these places where we would linger long, would be the home of Mr. Mark (William Marcus) Beard, a man who has meant much to Grenada county. Mr. Mark Beard and his brothers, George and Wesley, were the sons of William Beard and his wife who was a Miss Kendall. Mr. and Mrs. William Beard were good people of old and respected families. Their old home was five miles east of Grenada in the Hope neighborhood, then one of the best communities in the county. They were devout members of the Methodist church. In this wholesome atmosphere did Mark, the subject of this sketch, grow to manhood. He was in his young days, as in all his life, very much beloved. He was a gentleman of the old school, courteous and obliging, company for both old and young. He was a fine musician, playing both guitar and violin and was a sweet tenor singer. The Hope Methodist Church had a fine choir, he and his brothers singing in same. He was bugler for the Grenada Rifles in the Civil War, afterward playing in the band of the famous 15th Mississippi Regiment.

The family in Winona still have the horn he carried through the four dark years. On reaching manhood, Mark Beard married Janie Peak, a granddaughter of John and Nancy DeJarnette, of Memphis, Tenn., mentioned in previous articles, incidentally related to the writer of this piece. They bought the home of Prof. Townes on Epperson Creek, who was the grandfather of Mr. Bob Townes, of our own time and city. Also this place is of interest to me being the first place my grandfather, George Williamson, ever farmed in his own name. He rented same from Mr. Ransom Crowder. A son is buried there.

Mr. and Mrs. Beard immediately set to work to remake the place. Mr. Beard was one of the best farmers I ever knew. He sold corn when others bought it, sold meat each year, always planted peas in corn, sowed hay, raised cotton and ran a gin, and had a fine orchard. Besides being a good farmer Mr. Beard was a good architect. He also loved to hunt and fish but never neglected his work to do so, and had the finest bird dogs I ever saw. His wife, Janie Peak, who was a most lovable and intelligent lady only lived a few short years after their marriage. A daughter, Mary, was left who afterwards lived much of her childhood days in my grandmother's home. She was a sweet girl, bright and attractive, and was sunshine in the life of those who knew her, and a bright spot in my own life. She now lives in Winona, the wife of that splendid citizen, Tom Spencer. They are the parents of a fine family of boys and girls, now all grown and an honor to their parents.

Back to Mr. Mark Beard, after a few years he again married, this time to Nancy DeJarnette, a cousin to his first wife, a wonderful woman and a good Christian character. They were the parents of two boys and two girls. One daughter, Hattie, lives in Winona, a respected and much loved lady. One son, John Griffin, is now in a veteran's hospital and an invalid. The other son, William Marcus, named for his father is much like his father, kindly and genteel, a polished gentleman, is now living in Marion, Ark. a druggist and has a good wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Beard, Sr. left the old home and moved to Duck Hill that their children might be more advantageously located. Mrs. Beard died a few years later, much loved by all who knew her, missed indeed by the entire community. Mr. Beard lived several years longer. Old in years, but ever young in heart. Always looking to the future, ever loving his old country home which he farmed until death, and which his children still own. He was a member of the

Grenada College Gymnasium To Be Recreational Center

Grenada Grown-Ups To Have Opportunity To Indulge In Numerous Exercises

Miss Mary McNeill, Recreational Director for Grenada County, announces that she has secured the Grenada College gymnasium to be used as a recreational center for Grenada. This is good news for it will give the grown-ups of Grenada an opportunity to indulge in sports and obtain exercise much needed by most of us.

Miss McNeill states that plans are to organize independent basketball, volleyball, pingpong and badminton teams as well as dramatics and glee clubs.

The business girls of Grenada are cordially invited to meet with her Monday night, October 3rd at 7:30 o'clock at the gym and formulate plans for, or organize a Business Girls Club and teams to compete in the various games that she has in mind.

The married women are asked to meet with her Wednesday morning, October 6 from 10 to 11 o'clock, at which time gymnastic clubs will be organized. Special groups will be formed affording many different kinds of physical exercise which should be of benefit to all those who take part.

Miss Lois Profit, State Recreational Worker, will be here all next week to assist Miss McNeill in this work. She is a natural born athlete and is familiar with all types of gymnastics.

Under the direction of Miss McNeill Grenada has something to look forward to. She has been engaged in this work for a number of years since finishing school, where she was no slouch in the art, and has made a good showing and should make greater strides since securing the use of this splendidly equipped building.

No men will be present at the ladies meeting.

Days and hours for the various activities will be announced later.

Presbyterian Circles

All circles of the Presbyterian Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Harry Adams was in charge of the program, the subject being Religious Education, Synodical and Presbyterian Home Missions.

Methodist church and one of the most tolerant men I ever knew. He loved to talk of the war but without rancor. He was highly intelligent and well informed. His advice was good, his ideals lofty. He died as he lived, high in the estimation of his fellow men, and was buried in Duck Hill.

Boy Scouts to Hold State-Wide "Camporee" October 14-16

Patrols and Troops From All Parts of State To Be Jacked Encampment

Invitations to every Boy Scout in this community to attend a state-wide "Camporee" to be held in Jackson, October 14-16 have just been received by local Scout leaders.

For three days patrols from troop, and councils representing all parts of Mississippi will join in the gigantic encampment, do their own cooking, and enter into a varied program of Scouting activities in the tent city to be located north of the Mississippi State Fair grounds.

At a recent meeting attended by James F. Asbury, Tupelo, Executive of Yocoma Council, Executive Henry N. Brown, H. Pine Burr Area Executive, Hattiesburg, Harry Maxfield, Head of Jackson Area Council, John M. Sturdivant, Field Executive in Southwestern Mississippi, Mayor Walter A. Scott, of Jackson, and Commissioner F. M. Hawkins, of Jackson, final details of the "Camporee" were formulated. According to the bulletin issued from headquarters, there will be campcraft projects, a mammoth campfire celebration attended by visiting dignitaries at the Fair and participation in the Friday Fair parade.

Municipal authorities at Jackson have announced that police protection, extended sanitary facilities, water lines, and ample wood supplies will be furnished. Lighting arrangements have also been provided.

As official Observer, James F. Asbury, of Tupelo, will direct competitive patrol activities at the Camporee.

Directors are expecting over a thousand Mississippi youths to attend the meeting, which will be patterned on the organization of the National Scout Jamboree, recently held in Washington, D. C.

Harry Has Birthday

On Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, a few of Mr. Harry Greenfield's friends surprised him with a birthday supper at Jake's Place. Upon entering, Mr. Greenfield found a birthday cake, with fifty pink candles burning, on the table which had as a centerpiece a bouquet of pink roses.

Harry was compelled to "blow" twice to extinguish the flames, after which the guests were served the following menu:

Fried chicken, rice and gravy, butterbeans, French fried potatoes, combination salad, pickles, preserves, hot biscuit and coffee.

Grenada County Fair Sept. 23-25 Scores Success

E. H. White, Fred B. Merrill and A. K. Dexter Address Farm People

By J. L. Cooley, County Agent
The 1937 Grenada County Fair held September 23-25 received commendation of more than two thousand visitors viewing the farm and home exhibits. The fair was sponsored jointly by the business men of Grenada, The American Legion, County Extension Service, and County Reforestation Service. The following committees directed the fair: Finance committee composed of L. C. Proby, chairman; W. P. Moss, and L. D. Boone; publicity committee composed of W. W. Whitaker, Frank Jones, and Rice Lawrence, chairman; executive committee composed of J. L. Cooley, chairman, J. E. Shaw, Jr., J. D. Crenshaw, H. C. Wilson and Lottie Wood.

Mr. E. H. White, Director State Extension Service; Fred B. Merrill, Director State Forestry Department; and A. K. Dexter, Chief State Forest Fire Protection Service, spoke to three hundred farm men and women of Grenada county. Mr. White, a resident of Grenada, told the group that the time has come when farm people must do their thinking and planning; that Southern cotton farmers must organize as the grain farmers of the West and Middle West to plan their own progress and legislation. Mr. White said that an Adjustment Program for 1938 must embrace crop control, parity prices, and cotton production in foreign countries. Both Mr. Merrill and Mr. Dexter described the increased importance of reforestation and forest fire protection in our State and National farm program.

Ex-Senator W. A. Winter was asked to speak as a farmer and tell what he thought of the work being done to preserve the growing forests of Grenada county from fire and in the encouragement of the conservation of the forest we have left. Mr. Winter said in the beginning he was a doubter and objected to any tax being placed upon the land to support the work but he is now very enthusiastic and thinks it is a great pity the work was not started years ago. He also spoke in favor of a severance tax and stated that he thought it would be a great step toward the conservation of our forests.

Farm, Home, 4-H Club and forestry exhibits were in charge of J. L. Cooley, County Agent; L. H. Stubblefield, Assistant County Agent; J. E. Shaw, County Forestry Ranger and Vera Sledge, Negro Home Demonstration Agent. Exhibits were judged by V. M. Crumpton, Extension Specialist; Martin D. Adams; Melba Alexander, and Merle Barnett. "Former Grenada Boy Makes Good"

The paragraph below copied from The Louisville Times (Louisville, Ky.) will interest the friends of James U. Smith, Jr., the son of Mr. J. U. Smith, former resident of Grenada. When these good people moved from Grenada to Louisville, James was a student in the 9th grade, one of the outstanding boys in our school.

"Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 20.—Sixty-seven of the eighty-seven applicants who took the State bar examination last June were admitted to the practice of law today by the Court of Appeals, on recommendation of the State Board of Bar Examiners.

Of those who took the examination, James U. Smith, Jr., of Louisville, attained the highest average and J. Albert Green, of Louisville ranked second."

W. M. U. Circles

On Monday, October 4th the W. M. U. Circles of First Baptist Church will meet for Bible Study as follows:

No. 1 with Mrs. John Ed Murray at 3 o'clock.

No. 2 and No. 3 at the Church at 3 o'clock.

No. 4 with Mrs. Geeslin at 4 o'clock.

"Reel Life" Scenes To Be Shown At Free State Fair

Motion Picture Will Be Shown In the Main Auditorium of the Fair Grounds

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 29.—Preservation of wild game and fish life in Mississippi under the State Game and Fish Commission's educational, propagation and conservation program will be shown in "reel life" scenes during the Free State Fair opening October 11, Col. Edgar W. Wright, commissioner of Centerville, said.

"Each night during the Jackson exposition a four reel sound picture of the commission's work and program will be shown without cost to the throngs visiting the fair," Col. Wright said. "The motion picture will be shown in the main auditorium on the grounds and should be viewed by all attending the fair."

In addition to the nightly showings, the commission will have one of the most elaborate exhibits in the Game and Fish Building, with live animals, birds and fish as well as mounted specimens, on display. Many will be shown in their natural habitats.

The film will open with a conservation lesson handed to the White Man by his brother Indians. An Indian hunter is shown lifting his gun about to fire, when he decides to check his kill for the day. On finding he has his quota, the Indian lowers his gun and goes home.

"Even though there was an abundance of game, the Indians observed closed seasons reasonable bag limits and all of the principles of conservation," Col. Wright said. "They practiced true conservation because they realized that unless they did, the time would come when there would be no game left."

Another scene shows a hunter of today, unlike a majority of the true Mississippi sportsmen, with an excessive bag limit of squirrels.

"The operations of this type of game hog, if permitted to continue would eventually have completely exterminated all wild life in Mississippi," Col. Wright said.

These scenes are used as a build-up to a showing of the present conservation laws, enacted in 1932, and under supervision of five sportsmen-citizens who serve without pay.

Governor White is one of the principal actors in the picture, and is shown making the following statement:

"During the few years our State Game and Fish Commission has been in existence, great strides forward have been taken for the conservation of Mississippi's game and fish.

"No matter how active, however, this commission and its agents may be, their work will not be effective, our game supply will rapidly diminish and our fishing lakes will be depleted unless all of us consistently work with the Commission in the program of conserving wildlife, not only for this generation, but for those to come. We are, in fact, the trustees of our natural resources, and it is our solemn obligation to conserve and add to these resources for the benefit of all our people.

"My earnest plea is that each citizen give his cooperation and aid in this great work, so essential to our future welfare."

Chairman W. E. McIntyre, of Brandon, cuts into the picture at this juncture, to comment on the program of the commission.

"Experience teaches that a majority of the Mississippi work to conserve the state wildlife and this commission is making the rules and regulations as reasonable as possible and the state game wardens and their agents are putting forth their best efforts toward enforcement," the chairman says.

Short talks by the other members are shown as follows:

Secretary Ben M. Stevens, of Richton: "May I express to the people of Mississippi our most sincere and hearty appreciation for the fine cooperation that you have given us since 1932, and to ask that you continue to cooperate in order that the wildlife resources of Mississippi shall be returned to their normal and natural conditions."

wonder, with the beautiful green hills and shiny blue waters of the Pacific ocean.

The movie actors and actresses, sightseers, film folks, hundreds of picture shows, streams of automobiles and airplanes - on the go day and night. At least a hundred cars pass our front door every hour during the day and far into the night. I believe Broadway in New York claims the world's most gorgeous show girls, but the most marriage proposals and the most divorces come from the Hollywood beauties. Some people are now living on wheels it seems - all America is on wheels or in the air and politically everyone seems to be up a tree.

The times have changed. People have changed with it. Once everything was simple and plain. Work and happiness was wherever you reached out for it. The farmer who got on top was the fellow who worked from daylight till dark. Entertainments in your country was a good old fashioned spelling bee in the old log school house. Fourth of July picnics, when everybody would bring their boxes of lunch with fried chicken and real good ham. Those days were goodly as well as goodly. Now we, who in those days and times lived and had our beings, are the victims of shifting and transitory conditions.

We seem to be emerging from one way of life into another and it is common here at swimming places and the ocean front to see men and women almost naked. On more than one occasion at ten a. m. I have seen men walking the public streets of this city with no clothes on but shoes and a tight fitting drawer resembling a diaper; it merely protected the property, but scarcely obstructed the view, and likewise women walk the streets sometimes in only a two piece garment. Oh, what a change from fifty years ago! I sometimes wonder if it might not be a good idea to go back to the old days and the old ways to which I belong, but alas, I guess that will never be. I might go further and say, we almost envy those who are to live in some future age when all this shifting of life from one way to another way is over, and the world has again settled in peace and balance. With all the scientific improvements of today, is mankind any happier? Is life any sweeter today than it was fifty years ago? Is science reducing worry, or is it on the increase? It seems to me this country is out of joint. Whether Mr. Roosevelt and his Congress can put it back is extremely doubtful. There are those who say things would be better if only a few had the say, or even one man had the say. But those who assert this, forget that freedom is the greatest possession we have. I have never been in sympathy with the President to retire or increase members of the Supreme Court. The day may come when even the Federal Government can not longer provide money to support the people. We are not yet down to taxing the buttons on a man's coat, but it seems apparent that we are headed toward just that. What will happen if the man upon whose coat they are, has nothing to pay the tax with but the buttons? The strange things about this is that the administration and the Congress go right along spending billions upon billions of public money with the reckless idea that it can be done endlessly. Throughout all our activities in business, there is a tendency to eliminate human effort. Housework, to a large extent, is now performed with electricity. Food is cooked by gas or electricity. Modern life of today seems to try and find comfort by doing nothing. Walking has gone out of fashion. Labor saving machines and strikes are hurting business by unemployment of labor. But maybe I am doing a bit of "pudding jumping" - however, just remember this is supposed to be a Hollywood write-up and you will pardon me if I speak of myself. Some time ago the former editor of The Sentinel wondered what I was doing. I appreciated his interest and will say that I am not doing anything - just enjoying my retirement and seeing what others are doing in general, just watching the world go by. However, the world seems to move so fast that the sensations of today are a mere memory tomorrow.

Daughter gave me a fine radio for my room on Father's Day and on my twenty-ninth birthday, last March the 25th, a birthday banquet at the Biltmore Hotel where there was gathered about two hundred people. Her usual gift of One Dollar for every year I am old, was gratefully received and I am looking forward to the Eighty Dollars when I reach my eightieth birthday next March. All her friends remembered me with nice gifts. I have gained ten pounds while out here but don't think I need to gain any more in weight. I like to read my friend Boushe's and Morrison's write-up - they bring back memories of friends and some places that are most forgotten.

After a most enjoyable trip by motor of thousands of miles, going to places too numerous to mention with Hersee, my daughter, her friends, and Charles the chauffeur, we are back in Hollywood. We enjoyed San Francisco, the Golden Gate Bridge celebration, the Big Trees, and all the mountainous country. At the dedication of the Golden Gate Bridge an interesting sight was 21 warships with thousands of sailors on the ship. The Oakland bridge, between San Francisco and Oakland, California, is much more beautiful than the Golden Gate - they each have their distinctive points. There is a bridge called San Mateo Bridge that is eight miles long over deep water - about the longest in the world - that is over a span of water.

Mr. Editor, I remember you best as a little boy. I knew your good father quite well and I hope you will always be as good a man as was your father. I wish the greatest of success for you throughout life. With my best wishes to you, The Sentinel staff, and all Grenadians, I am,

Most sincerely, your friend,

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

There is an awful lot of things I can't understand, and once in a while the radio will get turned off and then I get a chance to kinda try to think. And the radio itself, it puzzles me, and the part that puzzles me most, it is the murder you hear. And I cannot figure it out.

And I never did hanker or thirst to find out just how or why somebody took hold of a bowie-knife and severed another person's arteries in just such and such a manner, like they do on the broadcasts. And in real life, if some announcer would break into your own home and cut throats right and left, and clutter up the living room with corpses and gore, it would not seem like such good entertainment.

But I see in our laboratories they are findin' out lots of things, like takin' atoms apart, and ways to eradicate malaria germs and the boll-weevil, etc., and maybe pretty soon they will get around to the sponsors of the murder program. Hot dog!

About Our Navy

The United States Navy is represented in every state in the Union and every country in the world. But, a great number of persons in the United States have only a slight knowledge of the Navy and its peacetime objective. Considering the fact that it costs every man, woman and child in the United States approximately one cent a day to maintain this vast organization, it should be of interest to the public from that standpoint alone. But to the parents of young, ambitious Americans between the ages of 17 and 25, it should be of special interest, inasmuch as the Navy guarantees a secure future for their sons, states Commander McGee, officer in charge of Navy recruiting in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The United States Navy recruits young untrained men exclusively, and puts them through a system, that if followed conscientiously, makes a man proficient in many lines of work.

The Nation needs well trained men to man its ships in time of peace and to form a reserve ready for instant duty in case of a national emergency. Consequently, it is a good investment for the Navy to offer special inducements to worthy men to stay in the service for several enlistments, and afterwards to form a reserve available in time of war.

After 20 years of service a man may transfer to the Fleet Naval Reserve and draw one half of his base pay. For the enlisted man holding a permanent appointment as Chief Petty Officer, this pay, after transfer, will amount to $63.00 per month—equal to the income from $20,000 invested in 3% bonds, and at the end of a total of thirty years of active and reserve duty combined this pay is increased by another $47.35 per month.

Governor White, accompanied by Chairman Harry Hoffman, and Mr. S. A. Kline, of the Mississippi Industrial Commission, returned Monday from New York City, where in addition to reviewing the American Legion Parade last week he held a number of industrial conferences with eastern leaders, and stopped over in Washington on his return, where he hoped to confer with President Roosevelt and other federal leaders relative to the extension of the forty-two million dollar highway program in Mississippi. During the chief executive's absence from the state Lieutenant Governor Snider held down the executive reins, as acting governor, as provided by law and the constitution.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission, under the able direction of Hon. Fred B. Merrill, has been making rapid strides to bring the people of Mississippi to a reforestation consciousness, and the spirit is constantly on the upgrade. Mississippi land owners planted 1,076,700 forest trees during the year 1936, all of these trees coming from the two state nurseries of Perkinston and University Park, in Stone county. This, of course, does not include the encouragement and results obtained from land-owners in the protection of reforestation lands in allowing the young pine forests to grow unmolested. The reforestation of pines in south Mississippi has come to be almost an industry and this is as it should be. However, forest seedlings may be obtained at $1.50 per thousand from the two state nurseries, by sending orders to the Forestry Commission, at Jackson.

Several citizens of north central Mississippi, Messrs. R. A. Harris, and C. S. Hill, engineers of the state highway commission, and Secretary of State Walker Wood, attended the meeting of Arkansas citizens, the meeting following a similar gathering held in Jackson, on Sept. 9th, and the object being to devise ways and means for constructing a large steel and concrete bridge across the Mississippi river near Greenville, which bridge is a part, or link, of U. S. Highway No. 82, connecting the states of Arkansas and Mississippi.

The highway commissions of the two states are authorized under a present law passed by Congress to jointly have the bridge constructed. They appreciate that the bridge is a link of Highway 82, which is a coast to coast, or national highway. This great east and west highway can not render the service as a National highway without this bridge link that it can render if this link of highway is built.

The construction of this bridge will be of great benefit to the state, and particularly to central north Mississippi, and will bring thousands and thousands of cars and trucks out of the east, where heavy transportation originates for the West and Southwest. The construction of this bridge link is another big opportunity for Mississippi. It will bring to the State much traffic that would not travel

The undersigned having been duly appointed Executrix of the Estate of W. F. No. 82 if the bridge is not built.

An assurance of traffic over No. 82 if this bridge is built is that from the East to San Francisco over 82 is a shorter route by 287 miles. The bridge can be built as a link of No. 82, with no provision for a railroad crossing, for approximately $3,000,000.00, and as the Federal Government owns the Mississippi River, and the importance of No. 82 as a military road, it is hoped that the authorities at Washington can be induced to build this bridge link of 82.

Some time in the near future, all the citizens of North Mississippi will be invited to attend a general meeting at Winona, in order to present to them the prominent place that No. 82 occupies in transcontinental road of the east and northeast, and the importance of the bridge link being built, and a delegation being sent to Washington to enlist assistance of the Government in completing No. 82 by building this bridge link.

Attorney General Greek L. Rice is now preparing to declare war on the alleged cotton seed trust in Mississippi. He is receiving letters from all over the state asking that something be done on this matter, and in his statement, General Rice said that the farmers and persons interested in cotton seed were not permitted to sell their products in an open market; that the market was controlled by trusts and combines that are unlawful in this state. The cotton seed price today is so low that the seed from a bale of cotton will hardly pay for the ginning.

The Attorney General requested the Legislature in 1934 and again in 1936 to make an appropriation of funds for the purpose of carrying on an investigation. The Legislature has not made the appropriation yet but it is believed that the matter will come up again at the 1938 session.

This is an important matter to our people. Cotton seed is an important agricultural commodity and a dollar's difference in the price of a ton of cotton seed means dollars to the cotton farmers in many hundreds of thousands of dollars to the cotton farmers in Mississippi. General Rice has called on all the district attorneys, county prosecuting attorneys and other officials and interested citizens to help make this investigation and to secure all available testimony.

The mandamus suit of the American Book Company, seeking to compel State Superintendent J. S. Vandiver to recognize the adoption of the company's contract for English text books last fall was heard last week at Indianola before Judge S. F. Davis. The court overruled and denied the petition.

When the English text books of the American Book Co. were adopted, it was without Supt. Vandiver's vote, because as he states, the books which were to be replaced were only about two years in use, and the proposed books were much higher priced, and he saw no reason for making a change at this time. Governor Hugh White and Walker Wood, Secretary of State, entertained the same views as did Mr. Vandiver, and declined to sign the contract, and the Attorney General ruled that without their approval, that no contract existed. The trial Judge stated that for "several reasons", the petition was denied. The American Book Company appealed the case, and the appeal was granted, and a further hearing will be had before the Mississippi Supreme Court.

The week of October 3rd to 9th has been set aside as Fire Prevention Week, and the President, and Governor White have both issued proclamations asking that same be observed. It is intended that programs be held in schools, public meetings and service clubs, with addresses and lectures to create a safer condition as to fire protection, and to make our people fire prevention conscious.

It is estimated that the total enrollment of all six of the state-owned institutions is about twenty per cent higher than in former years, amounting this year to approximately 5,960, according to Secretary Allan Ellard of the Board of Trustees of the Institutions of Higher Learning. Secretary Ellard states that this total was divided up as follows: Mississippi State College, at Starkville—1,950; University of Mississippi, at Oxford—1,375; Mississippi State College for Women, at Columbus—975; State Teachers College, at Hattiesburg—800; Delta State Teachers College, at Cleveland—370, and Alcorn A. & M. College at Lorman, for negroes—450. As stated, these are only approximate figures, and Mr. Ellard states that the peak of enrollment for the first semester will not be reached prior to October 15th, and that during the entire school year, the total enrollment will probably reach the top figures of 7,000.

A change soon to occur in the Department of Justice is caused by the recent resignation of Assistant Attorney General W. H. Maynard, effective on October 15, and the appointment by Attorney General Greek L. Rice of Hon. Russell Wright, of Meridian as Mr. Maynard's successor. Mr. Maynard's resignation was tendered because he desires to return to his former home at Clarkdale and resume his law practice, as a member of the law firm of Maynard, Fitzgerald and Venable, of which his father is a member. His successor, Mr. Wright, is at present the county prosecuting attorney of Lauderdale county, a position he will soon relinquish in order to assume his new duties here.

Nations of World Allot Year 1939 To New York Fair

World Exposition Already Growing Up; Seeks Active Participation of State

NEW YORK, (Special).—The New York World's Fair, in which every state in the nation must inevitably take small or prominent part, is out of its infancy.

Preparatory construction goes on night and day at the Flushing Meadow Site of 1316 1/2 acres at the geographical center of New York City. A steady flow of activities and announcements emanates from the Fair Corporation headquarters on four floors of the Empire State building. Judging from all of these, the Fair is a lusty, growing institution that will reach full maturity—no question about it—by the scheduled opening day, April 30, 1939.

The task of grading the site is about half completed. Battalions of men with trucks have already moved over 3,000,000 cubic yards of dry fill in the process of turning the waste marsh lands of the Flushing River basin into park ground. Other battalions are scooping out "meadow mat" for use as fertile top soil for the made lands, and in so doing excavate the beds for the two large lagoons featured in plans for the Fair.

The first of the 300 structures which, according to estimates, will house the 1939 Fair, has been completed and is ready for occupancy. This is the headquarters building for the field forces of today and the employment department of the exposition period.

Scheduled for early in the new year is the start of actual construction of the $600,000 Administration building. The designs for this structure, let under architectural contract a few weeks ago, are nearing the day of their approval in the Corporation's offices. Upon completion of this building, late in August, 1937, the Fair headquarters, bag, baggage and sales offices, moves to the exposition site.

"The most splendid and significant edifice projected for the 1939 international exposition," the Theme building, as described at Fair headquarters, is also well along in its construction period. The estimated cost of this great building for the "Thematic Centre" of the exposition is set at $1,300,000. The preliminary design is to be finished in about eight weeks and the final plans submitted within four weeks thereafter. Construction is scheduled to start immediately the designs are completed.

From this Theme centre will radiate all that is to be the 1939 Fair as conceived by its founders and rendered into concrete terminology and model by the Fair's Board of Design.

"Our job from now on is to give physical expression to the plan and theme of the Fair as announced and set down on paper in our headquarters," says Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation. "Starting next April 1, we plan to complete the design of one major building every ten days for a period of seven months. In all, we expect to design no less than 20 major buildings to house the exhibits from every part of the world. Some 300 structures, in all, are planned for the Flushing Meadow site, within a few minutes' ride from Manhattan."

Without solicitation on the part of the Fair, more than 350 American business houses and institutions have begun preliminary conversations regarding their participation and are already planning exhibits. Five of the great nations of the world have already assured the Corporation that they would erect their own buildings, while no less than 22 other nations have informally indicated their desire to participate.

And then, on top of all this display of keen interest, comes the announcement that the International Convention Bureau, meeting in Paris, has allocated the year 1939 to the New York Fair. This means that the New York Fair has exclusive ranking as the "one international exposition" of 1939, and assures it of the active support of the 21 nations signing the agreement.

President Roosevelt has just extended official invitation to the nations of the world. Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of the host State of New York, has extended invitation to the governors and residents of 47 states. Grover Whalen, likewise, has invited the governors in a letter pointing out that "the commercial consequences of the New York World's Fair are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state."

Fair Commissioners are already in South America and Europe. Still others are on their way to the Far East and other foreign shores. Major Daniel E. Nolan, retired, as head of the Department of Foreign, State and Municipal Participation, will himself make representation to the governors and legislatures of the various states.

Meanwhile, under the direction of Harvey D. Gibson, President of the Manufacturers' Trust Company, and Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, the prominent figures in the financial capital conducted a 28-day campaign to sell $27,529,570 in debenture bonds of the Fair to finance the construction period.

Every confidence is being expressed that the Fair not only will "pay its way," but that it will bring a billion dollars more of revenue into Greater New York and stimulate American industry in general to an extent many fold that amount.

The total cost of producing New York's Fair, including collateral improvements, is set at $125,000,000. Statisticians estimate that the attendance will total more than 50,000,000 persons.

The City of New York, the State of New York, and the Government of the United States, according to expectations, will account for $35,000,000 of the total expenditures and thus lend an official backing never before achieved.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF GRENADA COUNTY AND CITY OF GRENADA

GRENADA IS A GOOD TOWN AND ALWAYS WILL BE

During the last several weeks we have heard a lot of talk about Grenada being a bad town in many ways—that we have no law and order here—that we have a black record afar and abroad. In other words, Grenada has been pictured as a second Herrin, Illinois.

We cannot see Grenada in this light. For many years we have heard the expression (and know it to be true) that THE PEOPLE MAKE THE TOWN, and that is our reason for making the statement that Grenada is a good town and always will be, for we know that we have just as many good people here in Grenada as any other town in the world. We have had good people living in Grenada for a hundred years. We believe the teachings and the kind of blood that was in our great grandfathers and mothers has passed on down the line to the present generation, and will pass on through the generations to come. You cannot tell us that the teachings and training that has been given by all our good old fathers and mothers, many who have passed on years ago to their reward, will not live forever in the lives of their sons and daughters left behind.

Grenada has the finest churches and schools and the best of preachers and teachers of anywhere. With all these things we cannot see how Grenada can be classed as a bad town. We still say that GRENADA IS A GOOD TOWN IN WHICH TO LIVE AND NOT A BAD TOWN AT ALL.

Yes, liquor is being sold in Grenada, always has been and always will be. But Grenada is no worse in this respect than other towns in the state.

Liquor is being sold openly in Warren, Bolivar, Washington, Leflore, Rankin, Carroll, Lee, Tallahatchie and numerous other counties, and the Gulf Coast is wide open. There has been much in the papers about the National Guard putting the lid on in Rankin county. Just why Rankin should be picked on we do not know when the same thing is going on all over the entire state. Liquor can still be bought, and with very little inconvenience to the purchaser, in both Rankin and Hinds counties. Numerous places have been padlocked in these counties, but we can not see where anything was accomplished for all one has to do is drive a little farther on down the road from a padlocked place and he can purchase liquor in most any brand he might want.

The final report of the Covington County Grand Jury to Judge Edgar Lane advised the court as follows:

"During our investigation of the affairs of the county, we find that intoxicating liquors are being dealt with extensively in the county, and it seems that very little has been done toward suppression of this nefarious traffic during the past several months."

The Collins Commercial-News had this to say about the Grand Jury's report:

"Gentlemen of the Grand Jury, why, if you found as a matter of fact this to be the truth, did your body not return true bills of indictment against those engaged in the 'nefarious traffic'? Not censuring the Grand Jury, for we do not believe a better Grand Jury could have been selected, but the report of this inquisitorial body touching upon the liquor problem is one that merits public discussion.

"Yes, we have liquor in Covington county, and have had it as long as this writer can remember. Grand juries have come and gone and their reports have always contained lamentations of the 'liquor evils'.

"Why is liquor being sold in Covington county? Is it because of lax law enforcement? There are a great number no doubt that will contend lax law enforcement is the reason, but we take issue on the subject.

"As a matter of fact, Governor White's army and the United States Army and Navy combined could not prevent liquor being sold in Covington county under existing conditions.

"The reason why liquor is being sold in Covington county is for the simple reason that there are citizens of Covington county who buy and drink liquor.

"As long as there is a buyer there is going to be a seller.

"We are as dry as the Sahara desert personally, and if we did indulge in drinking we wouldn't mind in the least in saying so.

"Yes, gentlemen of the Grand Jury, liquor is being sold in Covington county and it is also being consumed, and this situation will continue until the time there shall be no more."

The Jackson Daily News had this to say about the Collins Commercial-News' editorial:

"The Collins Commercial has succinctly summarized the whole subject of prohibition in the sentence:

"As long as there is a buyer, there is going to be a seller."

"The next time an agent of the Anti-Saloon League comes around and asks you to contribute money to help win an election against liquor, tell him to go out and chase down some bootleggers or moonshiners.

"Thinking people who do not drink either whiskey or beer are becoming thoroughly disgusted with conditions as they prevail in most counties in Mississippi."

Who isn't disgusted with the liquor situation in Grenada and the state at large. Whiskey is sold openly in most every town and county in the state. The only reason it is sold is because there is somebody to buy it. You can't sell heating plants on the Sahara desert. There are no buyers. Consequently there are no dealers. We say, if whiskey could be banished from the face of the earth we would be for the program 100%. But it can't. Uncle Sam tried it and admitted a miserable failure.

Things go on around Grenada that most of our citizens know nothing about. Investigation could be given of some of our boys going around looking like the last rose of summer. It is not always whiskey and/or beer. We are wondering if our citizens have ever given thought to the evil effects of Barbital tablets? Our boys (and don't ask us to tell or print their names, for we won't do it) are eating them like they would candy. The continued use of this drug may be followed by chronic poisoning such as headache, severe mental depression and moral changes. The speech may become thick and articulation indistinct; the gait ataxic and reeling like that of alcoholic intoxication. In short their continued use will make a wreck out of anyone's life. The sale of this drug is not prohibited, but, according to one of our local doctors, should be.

We say prohibit the sale of this drug except on a doctor's prescription, and regulate the sale of liquor for you can't prohibit it. Then GRENADA WILL BE A BETTER TOWN IN WHICH TO LIVE.

A GOOD AND USEFUL MAN LEAVES GRENADA

Mr. J. K. Morrison left on Tuesday of this week for Jackson, where he has made a business connection.

While we have known Mr. Morrison for a number of years we were never closely associated with him until he came to Grenada in March of this year. Since that time we have been in close contact with him almost every day, and this is our reason for stating that he is a GOOD AND USEFUL MAN. During his stay in Grenada he made our office his headquarters, or hanging out place. He has been at liberty to use our desks—our typewriters—our stationery—and we even gave him a key to our front door, and he can have a key any time he wants it. He has contributed many useful articles for publication in The Sentinel. Through the columns of this paper he has offered many worthwhile and timely suggestions to our farmer friends. We actually turned our farm page over to him for one issue and received numerous congratulations, both locally and by mail, on this edition. On one occasion he came in with a story for the farm page that he had walked out into the country four miles to get. On another occasion he took a walk two miles out into the country for a good story. When it comes to getting a story about the farm there is no end to the work that he will put forth. During our almost every day association with Mr. Morrison we never heard him utter one profane word—never even saw him smoke a cigar or cigarette, never saw him drink anything except water, sweet milk, tomato juice and a bottle of Doctor Pepper.

If Mr. Morrison could not put in a good word for another person, then he would say nothing. On Sundays you could always find him at Sunday School and Church. We, and many others will miss Mr. Morrison.

THE FARMER AND THE GOLD BRICK

The time-worn story of the city slicker and the gold-brick might well be revived in view of John L. Lewis' bid for farmer support and his stated ambitions to organize the farm folks under a union.

To be sure, it would greatly enhance the CIO's powers if the American farmer could be rallied to support that minority of the labor ranks that marches under the Lewis banner—but it doesn't seem logical that the farmer wants labor dictating prices, especially when the farmer, along with the other industries, must pay those prices. Can you imagine the farmer voting deliberately to pay higher prices for the tools, clothing, machinery, and prepared foods he buys, just because John L. Lewis asks him to? That would be his "reward."

Then, too, can you picture the farmer and his farm hands dropping the hoe by the clock and putting off until the morrow the milking duties just because the union dictates the hours a man may work? Time and nature do not recognize unionism, and until Mr. Lewis can enroll them in his fold it is not likely that crops will wait to be harvested and the cow hold her milk until another time.

A ZONING ORDINANCE

Recently we were asked "Why don't you do something to protect the property values of the town? Why don't you insist on a zoning ordinance that will protect against shacks going up just anywhere and damaging property values? Why don't you give the City Council a good roasting for allowing this to go on?"

We admit Grenada needs a zoning ordinance. We know of nothing that would be of more benefit to the town. But the City Council can do nothing about it. The laws of Mississippi will not allow a city of less than 5,000 population to enact a zoning ordinance. So that's that. We suggest that you take the matter up with our legislators and ask that they endeavor to have the law amended so that Grenada can enact a zoning ordinance before the value of some of our best property is destroyed.

GRENADA SHOULD HAVE A LIGHTED FIELD

The tendency for lighted football fields is rapidly growing among high schools. Lighted football fields provide entertainment for the many who are interested but who are unable to attend games in the afternoon. Winona, Kosciusko, Bruce, Greenwood and many other schools now play their football games at night and they report a great increase in attendance. Grenada's football team this year plays all of its away-from-home games on lighted fields at night. Grenada should have a lighted field. The Fair Grounds offers one of the most attractive places to be found anywhere in North Mississippi. A splendid grandstand large enough for any crowd is there; the field is all ready graded; there is an entrance gate and a fenced field; about all that is necessary is the installation of the flood lights. If we had the Fair Grounds as a lighted field, we could have night games not only of football, but also soft ball, in season, and other games. Men and women who work hard all day deserve the recreation that a lighted field provides and we hope a sentiment strong enough to secure this means of recreation will be secured.

THE POISONING OF PETS A COWARDLY PRACTICE

To rail against deliberate poisoning of harmless and congenial cats and dogs is to rail against crimes in general, since everyone save possibly the poisoners recognize the mean and cowardly nature of the practice.

Granting that the pet poisoner is on a very slightly higher mental and moral level than the animal he kills, he may still be intelligent enough to escape the law. He may go on for weeks or even years venting a cowardly grudge against small animals. He may never be caught and properly punished.

The obvious move for owners of pets is to keep them out of his reach. Dogs penned in small enclosures are not happy dogs, but they may remain alive longer than they otherwise would. The pet poisoner, admittedly a person of cowardly nature, will scarcely attempt to poison animals on their owners' property.

Some persons learn early in life that a dog or a cat can be one of the most loyal friends one can have. Others never learn the meaning of the true friendship that some pets can display.

But since pet poisoners do exist, the best defense against them is to keep pets constantly within sight or hearing. The extra trouble and bother caused thereby will be compensated for—in the case of the pet lover, at any rate—by the continued life and health of his cat or dog.—Clarion-Ledger.

STATE CLUB BOYS PREPARE EXHIBIT

The Mississippi 4-H club boys' state crop exhibit, always a feature of the Mississippi State Fair, this year will eclipse any previous showing made by the 4-H youngsters. The display will carry a greater variety of entries with a new arrangement.

A thousand select exhibits of corn, cotton, sweet potatoes, peanuts and soy beans will be shown. The display will reveal interesting facts about this great rural youth movement. It will offer farmers an opportunity to study displays of the best crop varieties and the most improved cultural practices which have enabled 4-H club members to lead the nation in crop yields and animal production.

A new feature of the boys' club show this year will be exhibits and demonstrations showing what rural boys are doing to conserve soil fertility, to preserve wild life and to protect forestry resources on the farms of the state.

Trained teams of boys in 4-H uniforms will remain in the exhibit booth throughout the Free State Fair at Jackson, October 11-16 to explain all features of the exhibits to the fair visitors. They will also have informational material available for distribution.

Viewing with the boys in their attempts to put on a colorful and attractive exhibit, will be the 4-H girls of the state who plan to excel any showing they have heretofore made at the Mississippi State Fair.

Beautiful displays of canned products, attractive dresses of their own making, food and nutrition displays, fresh vegetable displays, home improvement exhibits, will be among the many interesting features which the girls will show.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Roy Johnson and Pierce.

Washington, D. C.—There's an ancient and honorable question here at the capitol. It's - "What do the people think? Years and years ago a cynical politician gave the succinct answer. "They don't!" It may have been true then and it may be true today but certainly the people have opinions. Definite opinions. As one of the big newspaper chains found out when it sent its inquiring reporters on constitution day to ask the public, "What does the constitution mean to you?"

The answers were astounding in their uniformity. Nine out of ten had never read it or any part of it. Seven out of ten didn't think it ought to be "Scrapped" but six of the seven thought it wouldn't hurt to change it "some".

To nearly all it seemed a strange, semi-sacred creed not unlike a totem pole or a hair of the beard of mohamet with which it was better not to tamper unless it interfered with the "Good" of the people.

That's the 1937 viewpoint of the document whose preamble reads, in part, "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, promote the general welfare."

Remember this viewpoint when the next direction rolls around and the candidates raise the perennial cry of "save the constitution!"

At present political Washington is far more interested in finding out the public's opinion on the justice Black-Ku Klux Klan affair. Considered opinions vary but the most logical goes something like this - The Klan is supposed to be, in the mind of the public, chiefly anti-Jewish and anti-Catholic. To the white protestant voter membership may be a sign of degeneracy or a badge of honor. According to the individual point of view. But the Jews and Catholics are very largely concentrated in the big cities where the Klan and its activities are as remote and as unimportant as an Indian ghost dance. The supposed fierce resentment is mostly in newspaper headlines. The real pressure for "something to be done about it" will come - if it comes - from the smaller places where the Klan issue is a living thing.

Anybody who believes that Americans are a peace loving nation devoted to neutrality should drop in on secretary of state Hull. But don't say we sent you. A continual storm has raged over our neutrality in the Spanish rebellion but it was a mere summer breeze compared to the protests on our policy in the China-Japan mixup. It was natural enough for Americans with financial interests in China to protest the embargo

STATES HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW WARES IN HUGE BUILDING AT NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—Included in the limited edition book of unusual size and beauty which the New York World's Fair 1939 incorporated has sent to state governors and through diplomatic channels, to foreign governments, is the following text devoted to

The Sovereign States of the Federal Union

George Washington, in declaring that the public felicity and prosperity of America depend upon the firm union and the unceasing cooperation of the sovereign American States, divined the future. The prosperity and the greatness of these United States have arisen from the free and unimpeded circulation of ideas and products in the world's greatest consumer market.

The Fair gives to each State the appropriate setting and opportunity to announce to the world its unique and indispensable contribution to America's rich and colorful civilization. The Fair contemplates a Hall of States, in the imposing Government group and flanking the structure which the Fair looks to the United States to build, to house the exhibits of the forty-eight States and the Territories. Those wishing to participate more extensively will, in addition to their exhibits in the Hall of States, either erect their own buildings or obtain space to display their products and attractions in one or more of the exhibit zones.

against the shipment of munitions in Government owned vessels and the order for Americans to evacuate Chinese territory but the real uproar has been caused by those thousands of citizens who never saw a Chinese except in a laundry, who know nothing of the once celestial kingdom but what they have read in Pearl Bucks books, but who nevertheless are always ready with sympathy for the underdog. They are always ready to send the fleet and land the marines. But so far the state department has had no rush of applications for passports to China so that the protesters can go there and fight themselves.

Best Exhibits in History of Fair

The Mississippi State Fair will be held in Jackson during the week of October 11-16. The officials of the fair say they will have the best exhibits in the history of the fair.

At the Mid-South Fair held in Memphis, the schools of Mississippi made a very creditable showing in their exhibits under the leadership of the supervisors of vocational agriculture. These exhibits will be on display at the state fair in Jackson.

It has been our pleasure to visit many community and county fairs held in this state this fall and the very fine exhibits from these fairs may be seen at the Jackson fair.

We feel that this is very worthwhile and that school authorities of any county in the state where a large number of school children can attend will be justified in declaring a holiday for this occasion. In the event a general holiday is not declared in the county, we feel that local school authorities will be justified in not penalizing those pupils who do attend by allowing them full credit for their school work on the day they are in attendance at the fair.

Outlook Justifies State Participation In New York Fair

Whalen Voices Opinion in Inviting Governor and People to the 1939 Exposition

NEW YORK (Special).—In a letter of invitation to the governors of 47 states, Grover Whalen, President of the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation, points out that the commercial consequences of the international exposition under construction in New York City are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state in the nation.

"Fifty million persons from every walk of life, from every state in the United States, from every country in the world, are expected to attend the Fair," writes Mr. Whalen. "The great American market with its tremendous consumer purchasing power will be represented by these visitors. They will comprise a true cross-section of the nation."

The World's Fair, according to Mr. Whalen, will be a magnificent spectacle, entertaining and instructive. It will attempt to answer the questions: "What kind of a world have we built? What kind of a world are we building? What kind of a world can we build?" With collateral improvements, it will represent a total investment of more than $125,000,000 by the Fair Corporation and the governmental, industrial and other participants. The Fair site park is a tract of 136 1/2 acres, almost at the geographical and population center of New York City.

Construction of buildings and roads, grading, dredging, planting and landscaping are already under way, based upon a schedule which calls for completion of all construction operations before January 1, 1939, to allow four months for final decorations and installation of exhibits preparatory to the opening of the Fair on April 30. The opening date commemorates the inauguration, on April 30, 1789, of George Washington as the first President of the United States.

In the government area, and near an imposing federal hall to be erected by the United States Government, the Fair will provide a "Hall of States" in which the significant contributions of each state in laying the foundations for the better World of Tomorrow can be proudly displayed, says Mr. Whalen.

His letter supplement, an invitation to participate in the Fair extended to the governors on November 30 by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of the host state of New York. Governor Lehman pointed out that the State of New York has already appropriated, to date, $2,130,000 for commencement of construction of boulevards, service roads, bridges, and certain other basic improvements the State will make at the exposition site or its approaches. The New York legislature, further, during 1936 passed an act creating the New York World's Fair Commission of 18 members and providing funds in aid of this body's preparation of plans for a state building and exhibit and for active state participation in the Fair.

Her Sea Shai Be Legion

NEW YORK (Special).—Miss Liberty, the statue in New York Harbor, is already playing in her newest role. An artist's impression of her graces the official seal of the New York World's Fair 1939. Thus, from the vantage point of news columns, mail stickers and innumerable other decorated devices she carries the torch of invitation to every corner of the world and into every home in the United States.

Folks, remember we are still having Sunday school at Mt. Nebo in the afternoon and at Shiloh in the morning.

Little Louie Ralph Havens entertained a few of his little friends last Sunday with a birthday dinner and received several little gifts.

Our Fair

The Fair was a hurry up affair. The community exhibits were creditable as the communities had a very short time in which to gather the material and arrange the exhibits.

To be frank, the writer's greatest interest was in the exhibition of mule colts, mares and jacks that we were quite sure would be exhibited. Frankly we were disappointed.

One heartening thing was the jacks exhibited by Rural Resettlement. They are in fine condition. I remember that one time Banker Thomas loaned money on some pure bred beef bulls and the care taken of them was disappointing. A good feature of the loans being made by Rural Resettlement is that the agent, Mr. Walter Strider, visits them to see that they are well cared for.

As to pure bred bulls, there came very near not being any. Just one, I believe from Aberdeen Angus, owned by Mr. P. L. Bennett. Bully for Mr. Bennett who deserves credit for letting us know that there is at least one in the county.

There were difficulties that confronted the farmers. The first one, they were rushing to get cotton picked, the hay stored in the barn and the corn harvested. And there was few that had big trucks to haul them in, and they dislike to put a mare and colt in the road to bring them to Grenada for an exhibit.

THROUGH BROAD AND BEAUTIFUL ENTRYWAYS
VISITORS WILL PASS TO THE NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK. (Special).—Forty thousand persons an hour—visitors from every state and every nation—must be accommodated in comfort at but one of the entryways to the New York World's Fair of 1939, according to arrangements the Fair Corporation is completing to handle a maximum daily attendance of 800,000. The artist's drawing, as reproduced above, calls for a magnificent double-decked entryway with underground, over-passes, pedestrian walks, bus terminals, comfort stations and bridge connections assuring comfort while providing an area of architectural splendor.

Shown is a ramp leading from the exposition grounds toward the L.R.T.-B.M.T. subway terminal, at a point where it is necessary to cross over the Long Island railroad tracks and to avoid undue congestion of pedestrian traffic. Shown in the left foreground is a domed restaurant within a fountain basin and a concourse bordered by grown plane-trees, and, nearer, an open-air cafe and an information kiosk. Along the flanking walls the artist has delineated the Fair's world concept which looks to the building of a peaceful, happier World of Tomorrow.
